HUDSON RIVER REGION WEBSITES

The Hudson River Valley is a vital center of industry, tourism and environmental and historic restoration. You will find a number of websites on the Hudson River Region in the New York State section of Librarians' Best Picks. They are arranged by different categories, such as Art, Environment, General, History, and Recreation and Tourism.

Here is a sampling:

Index of Hudson River School Painters

dfl.highlands.com/DFL_Painters/Index.html

A feast of images has been assembled from the Reference collection of the Desmond Fish Library. You can access more than 1,000 images, arranged alphabetically by artist.

A Hudson River Portfolio

www.nypl.org/research/udson

The New York Public Library has created a wonderful introduction to life on and along the Hudson in the 19th century when the river was teeming with activity. Prints, maps, photographs, guidebooks, histories and literature have been scanned and organized for the student, scholar and anyone interested in the river.

Scenic Hudson

www.scenichudson.org

The Scenic Hudson is a nonprofit organization and land trust working to protect, preserve and restore the Hudson River and its riverfront as a public and natural resource. At this site you will find information on current news, parks and preserves, environmental education, controversial issues, PCB cleanup, and much more.

The Hudson River Valley

www.travelhudsonvalley.org

Select a county and discover all kinds of activities from A to Z. The Westchester information is from the county Visitors Bureau and lets you search for an event by keyword.
