

SOUND SHORE

EXPRESS

Thursday, May 7, 2009

YOUR NEWS

Older artists' work in library exhibits

PELHAM: The Westchester Library System and Lifetime Arts Inc. announces the final exhibitions at three of Westchester libraries participating in the "Creative Aging in Our Communities: The Westchester Libraries Project."

The arts initiative aimed to enhance the quality of life for older adults in Westchester through instructional workshops. Over the month of May, the Pelham, Chappaqua and Riverfront/Yonkers public libraries will each showcase their participants' work.

For more information, visit www.westchesterlibraries.org or www.lifetimearts.org. Here's the information on your local library.

■ Pelham Public Library, at the Pelham Arts Center, May 9 from 1:30 t 3:30 p.m. Working with writer Bill Wertheim and visual artist Susan Kaufman, participants in "Reflections on a Lifetime: Writing & Collage Workshops," used memory as a primary source to create original work, in literary form and collage.

Submitted by the Westchester Library System.